

FILTERING NETWORK MANAGEMENT MESSAGES

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A network management system includes a network management server and one or more clients initiating network management messages between the server and network elements. The server parses the network management messages and 5 communicates each message to client consoles having filtering criteria satisfied by the contents of the message.

PENDING PCT/US01/053948